AGENTS FOR THE SALE
OF

W. BUTCHER'S HOMŒOPATHIC MEDICINES.

Every family employs to some extent, domestic remedies; even under the old system, such as Castor Oil, Magnesia, Rhubarb, Epsom Salts, Antibilious Pills, or Sulphur; and for these Homœopathy substitutes its Domestic Chest and Guide, which are far more innocent, and very much more efficacious.

Homœopathic Medicines are so simple in their administration, and so mild and gentle in their operation, that the youngest or the weakest may take them without difficulty or danger, and many serious diseases have been warded off by timely attention, which, if neglected, might have been fatal.

INTERNAL MEDICINES.

These are kept in stock, either as Tinctures, Pilules, Triturations, or Globules, in Bottles at 6d, 9d, 1s, 1s 6d, 2s 6d, and 4s 6d each.
